CatholicCare Victoria's Job Readiness Program supports refugees and other eligible migrants to prepare for and seek employment in Australia.

The program aims to:

- increase confidence in preparing resumes, job applications and attending job interviews.
- equip people to enter into the Australian job market.
- enable job-seekers to recognise their skills and abilities that are relevant in the workplace.
- provide direction to appropriate jobs or further education and training that can lead to employment.
- this program seeks to build relationships with potential employers, service providers and other employment agencies.

Who is eligible for the program?

This program is for refugees who:

- have arrived in Australia in the last five years.
- are actively looking for work.
- need training and support on how to search and apply for jobs in Australia.

Please call your nearest location for enquiries or to make a referral.
